VII. AWARDS

1. Quantitative Methods Student Presentation Award. This annual award is open to all undergraduate and graduate student members of the section who are presenting in a session sponsored by the Quantitative Methods Section (no nominations are required). Non-student executive members will rate each student paper/poster presentation on a scale from 1-10, with the student earning the highest average score given the award. Executive members who cannot attend the convention or specific sessions can ask a surrogate member of the section who is able to attend to rate the presentations for him/her. The award will be announced within two months following the convention and the presentation of the award will take place at the following year's convention. In addition to receiving their name on the award plaque, the winner of the Student Presentation Award will also receive a special invitation to publish a report based on the content of the presentation in The Quantitative Methods for Psychology.
2. Quantitative Methods Research Award. This annual (calendar year) award will recognize excellence in a research study focusing on quantitative methods for psychology and published in a refereed scientific journal by a researcher in Canada (i.e., a researcher working at an institution in Canada, or an individual from outside Canada who is a member of the Section). The publication date of the article must match the award year. Nominations for this award can be submitted by any Section member and should be sent to the Chair of the section by April 1 (for the previous calendar year's award). Nominations will be voted on by the executive and the award will be presented at the CPA convention.
3. Quantitative Methods Student Travel Award. Four awards of $250 each will be available to students to recognize exceptional submissions (2 awards) and to help defray the costs for students traveling long distances to attend the convention (2 awards). The award is open to both undergraduate and graduate students who apply and are accepted to present within the QM Section at the CPA Annual Meeting. The awards are available for any type of presentation (e.g., poster, workshop, paper presentation). The student must be the first/presenting author on the proposal. Students must notify the Chair of the QM Section once their submission has been accepted so that they may be considered for the award. The awards will be adjudicated by the QM Section Executive and the winners will be notified by the end of April.

4. Quantitative Methods Lifetime Achievement Award. This triennial award recognizes significant contributions to the field of Quantitative Methods for Psychology by a Canadian researcher (e.g., a researcher, regardless of citizenship, working at a Canadian institution, or a Canadian researcher working outside of Canada) or a long-time (> 5 years) member of the Section. The award does not recognize single or short-term contributions to Quantitative Methods, but instead recognizes individuals for valuable and extensive contributions to the field over many years (the candidate should be a minimum of 20 years post-PhD). Contributions could be substantial in one of research, teaching, consulting, advising, or service, or across a combination of research, teaching, consulting, advising, and service. A nomination package should include a cover letter (prepared by the nominator; self-nominations are permitted), the CV of the nominee, and a list of at least three arms-length potential evaluators (evaluators will only be contacted for short-listed candidates, and not all evaluators will necessarily be contacted). The deadline for submission of nominations (to the Chair of the Section) will be March 1 of the calendar year. The award will be adjudicated by the QM Section Executive (executive members applying for the Lifetime Achievement Award are excluded from the adjudication process) and the winner will be announced at the Annual Section Business Meeting.
5. Quantitative Methods Early Career Research Award. This triennial award recognizes significant research contributions to the field of Quantitative Methods for Psychology by an early career Canadian researcher. An early career researcher, for the purposes of this award, is defined as someone less than 10 years post PhD. The researcher must be either working at a Canadian institution (regardless of citizenship), a Canadian researcher working outside of Canada, or a long time (> 3 years) member of the Section. In exceptional circumstances (i.e., outstanding contributions), the Section is willing to accept applications from doctoral students. A nomination package should include a cover letter (prepared by the nominator; self-nominations are permitted), the CV of the nominee, and a list of at least three arms-length potential evaluators (evaluators will only be contacted for short-listed candidates, and not all evaluators will necessarily be contacted). The deadline for submission of nominations (to the Chair of the Section) will be March 1 of the calendar year. The award will be adjudicated by the QM Section Executive (executive members applying for the Early Career Research Award are excluded from the adjudication process) and the winner will be announced at the Annual Section Business Meeting.

VIII. AMENDMENTS

1. The Executive Committee may establish policies and procedures consistent with these By-Laws.
2. These By-Laws may be amended by approval of a motion by a two-thirds majority of votes cast at the Annual General Meeting of the Section, provided that at least sixty days notice is given for such a motion, and that the amendments receive subsequent approval by the Board of CPA.
